

The user would swipe up and down the page to view the content.

The user would press the Fotos, Loved, Create, Types, and Account buttons to visit those pages.

This page displays the user's Buddy's Fototypes.

The user would press a person's username to visit that app user's page, which would show their Fotos and re-posts.

The user would swipe up and down the page to view the content.

The user would press the Fotos, Loved, Create, Types, and Account buttons to visit those pages.

The user would press the refresh arrow to refresh the page, which would load more contents when available.

The user would press the comments icon to view comments or leave a comments. The comments icon would then turn permanently blue, for the user to see that they viewed or left a comment.

The user would press the re-post icon to re-post the Foto on their page, which would automatically give credit to the Foto's original user. The re-post icon would then turn permanently green, for the user to see that they re-posted the Foto.

The user would press the heart icon to "Love" the Foto. Any heart pressed would then turn permanently pink, for the user to see that they "Loved" it.

This page displays all Fotos in the app that are the most loved by all users, updating 24/7.

The user would press a person's username to visit that app user's page, which would show their Fotos and re-posts.

The user would swipe up and down the page to view the content.

The user would press the Fotos, Loved, Create, Types, and Account buttons to visit those pages.

The user would press the refresh arrow to refresh the page, which would load more contents when available.

The user would press the comments icon to view comments or leave a comments. The comments icon would then turn permanently blue, for the user to see that they viewed or left a comment.

The user would press the re-post icon to re-post the Foto on their page, which would automatically give credit to the Foto's original user. The re-post icon would then turn permanently green, for the user to see that they re-posted the Foto.

The user would press the heart icon to "Love" the Foto. Any heart pressed would then turn permanently pink, for the user to see that they "Loved" it.

This page loads on the screen allowing the user to take a photo within the app. The user is given more options on the page as well.

The user would press the X to exit the Create page and return to the Fotos page.

The user would press the flash button to turn flash on, off, or auto.

The user would press the flip button to flip the camera around to front facing or vice-versa.

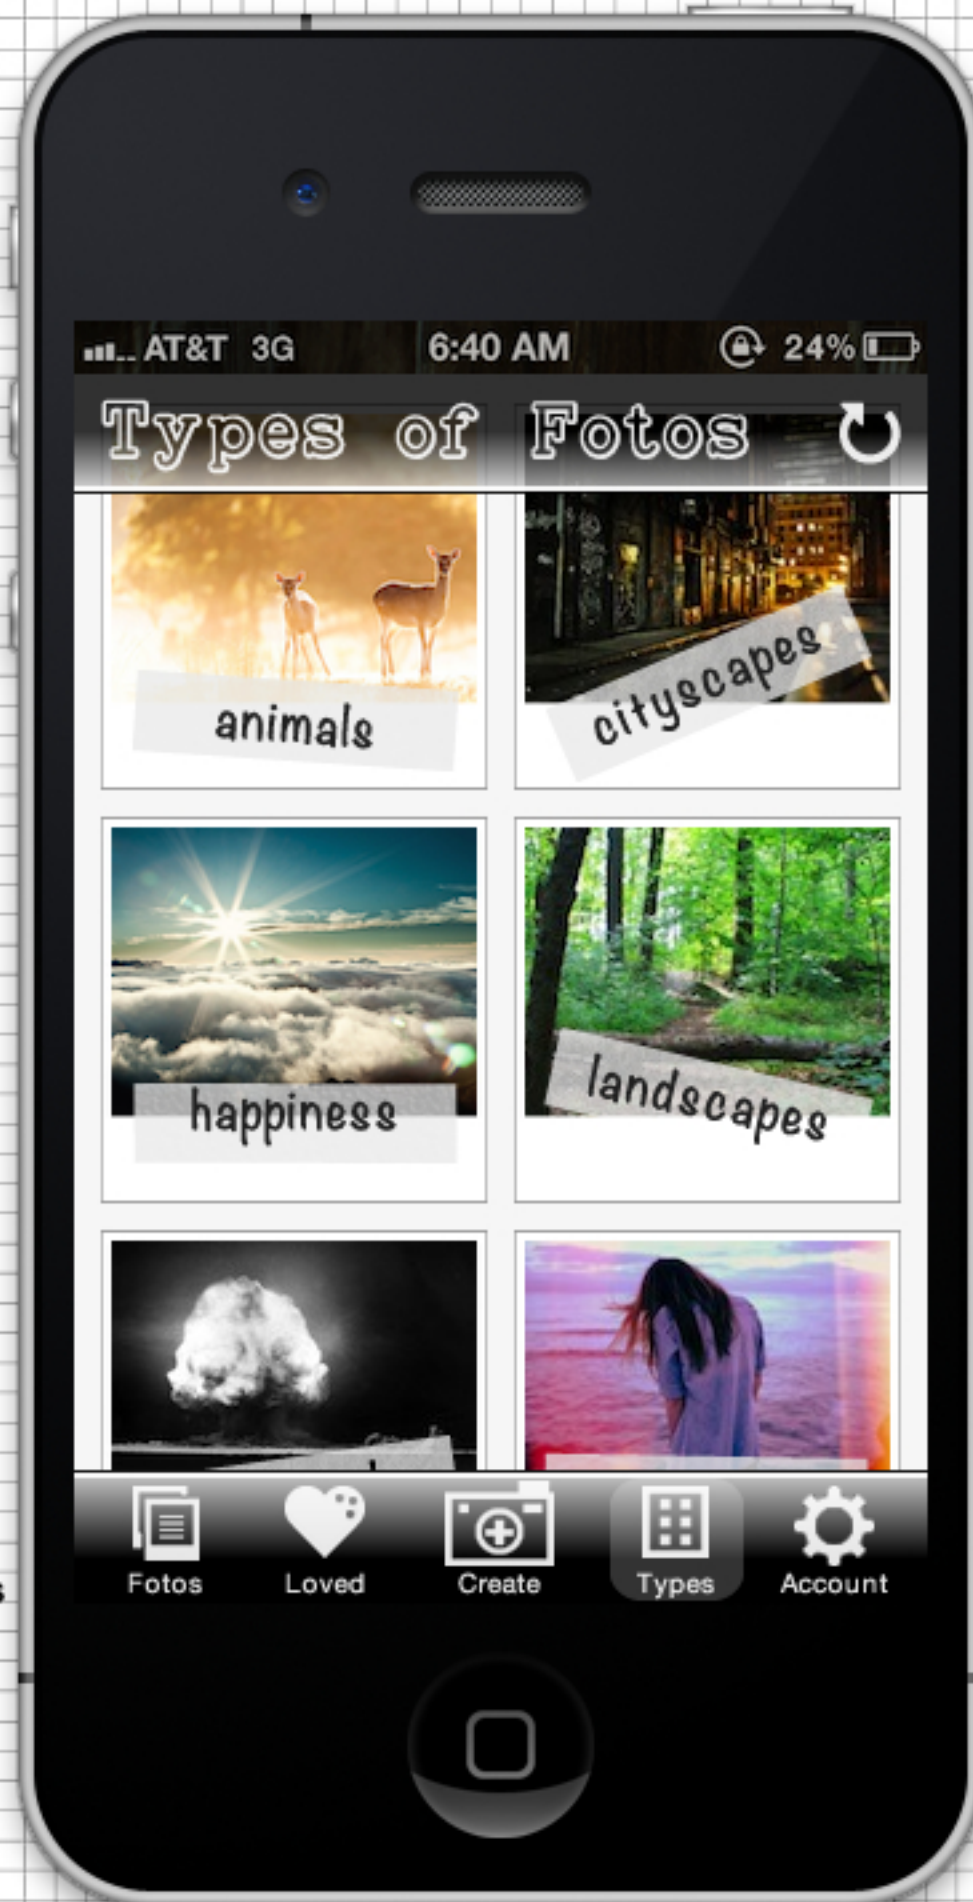

The user would press the edit button to edit the photo's attributes, add text, or a frame. The one requirement for this app would be that the photo would need text on it.

The user would press the photo album button to select a photo from the iPhone's album. If the user chooses to select a photo from the iPhone's album, the edit page loads directly after selecting the photo.

The user would press the camera button to take a photo while within the app. If the user chooses to take a photo within the app, the photo appears on the page and the user can click on the edit button to proceed.

The user would press the world button to launch Safari to surf the web and save a photo to the iPhone's album, then can go back into the app to select the photo to use.

This page displays the types of Fotos in the app, organized by categories.

The user would press the refresh arrow to refresh the page, which would load more contents when available.

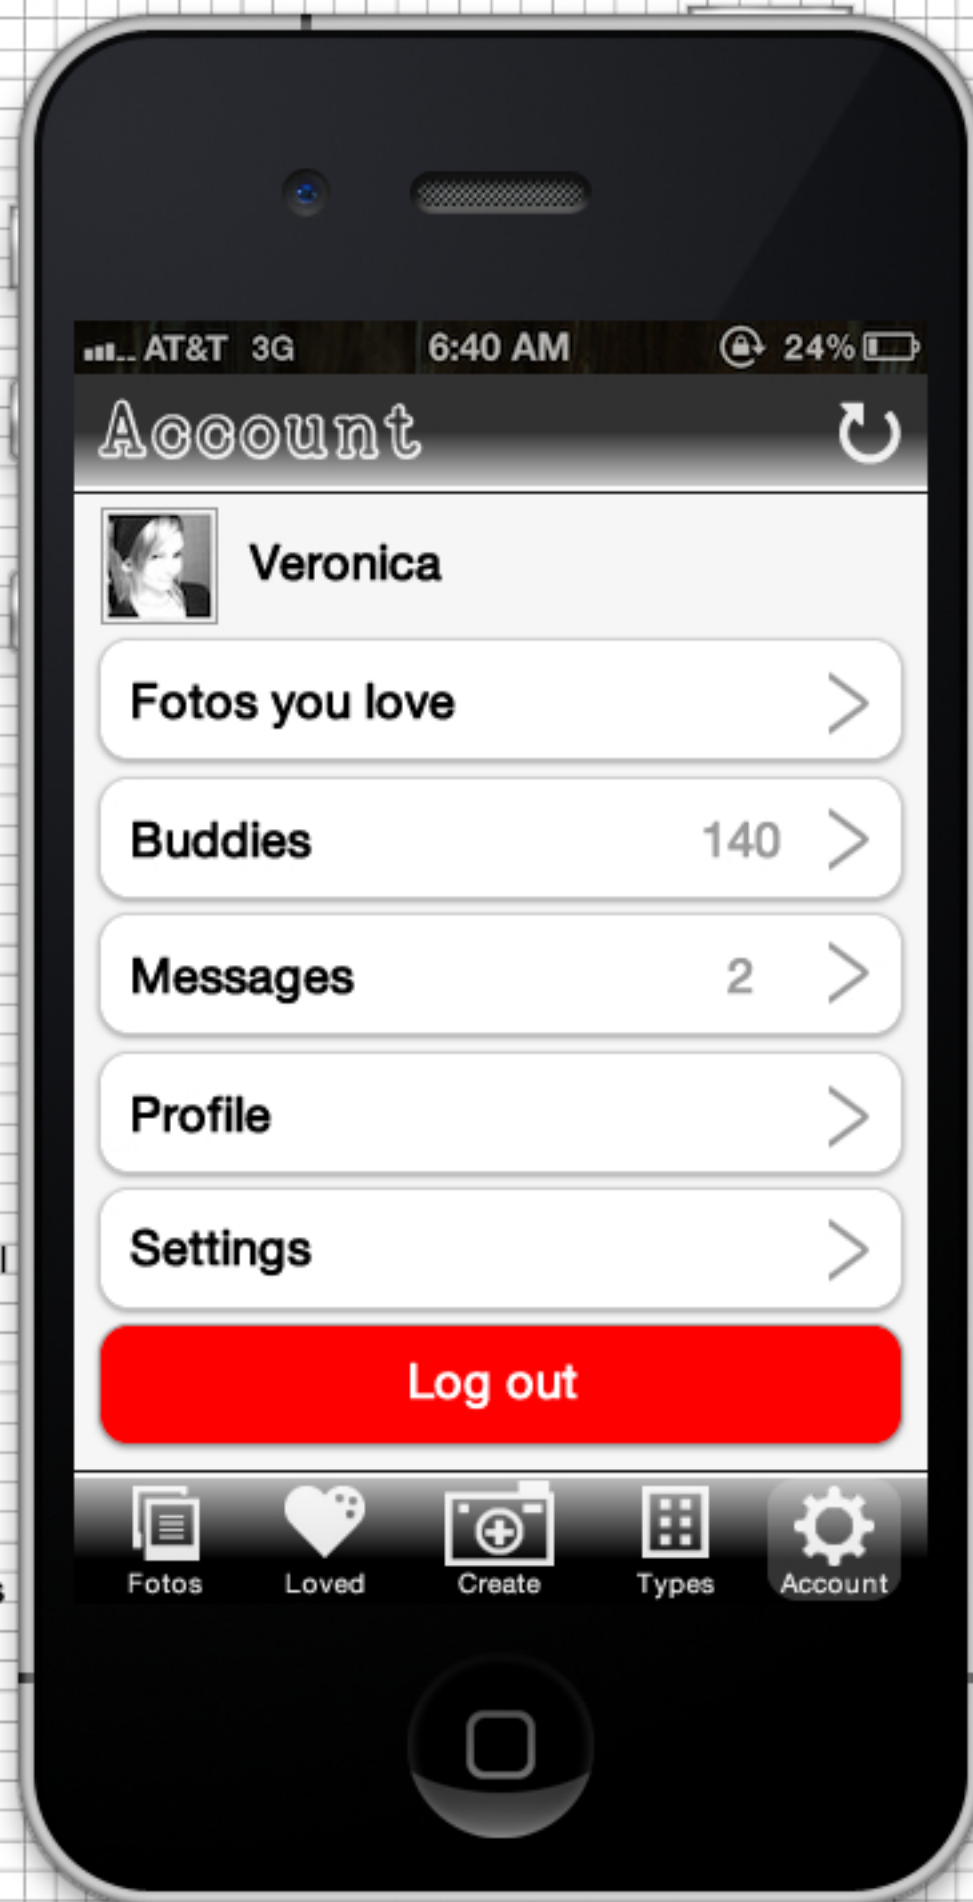

The user would press on the animals, cityscapes, happiness, landscapes, political, and sadness icons to view those pages. Those pages would be comprised of Fotos tagged with those words. There are more Types, but are not shown on this prototype.

The user would swipe up and down the page to view the content.

The user would press the Fotos, Loved, Create, Types, and Account buttons to visit those pages.

This page displays the user's account, with buttons to go into more pages, or log out.

The user would press the refresh arrow to refresh the page, which would load more contents when available. This would mainly be helpful on the pages following clicking the buttons.

The user would swipe up and down the page to view the content. This would mainly be helpful on the pages following clicking the buttons.

The user would press the Fotos, Loved, Create, Types, and Account buttons to visit those pages.